

CALL FOR ASSOCIATE MEMBERSHIP NOMINATIONS

NEW! NOMINATIONS OPEN: AUGUST 15 - NOVEMBER 1, 2025

Associate Membership Eligibility and Nomination Criteria

- Nominations are limited to associate professors at any stage or full professors for at most three full years after promotion, or an equivalent level for non-academic nominees. Eligibility is based on rank as of Nov. 1, the deadline for nominations. For example, for the 2025 nomination cycle, full professors promoted effective in 2022 or later meet the eligibility criteria.
- Nominees must work or live in the state of Florida.
- Election is by nomination only (no self-nominations permitted).
- Nominations can come from anyone at equivalent or higher rank. The nominator can be from the same or different institution/company as the nominee. In addition to the nominator, three references are required to support the nomination, one who must be an ASEMFL Full Member and two who are faculty or industry members at full professor rank or equivalent. Of the three referees, at most one can be from the nominee's home institution/company.
- Election to associate membership will be based on sustained excellence and rising impact over the nominee's career; evaluation will be on impact and potential for impact and sustained and rising contributions in the field. Election will also factor in contributions that the nominee can bring to ASEMFL.
- Elected associate members will be inducted at the following ASEMFL annual meeting in the Fall. The inaugural class of associate members will be inducted in the 2026 Annual Meeting.

Founded in 2018, ASEMFL recognizes outstanding achievements in science, engineering, and medicine in Florida. ASEMFL full membership is by election or by membership in the National Academies of Engineering (NAE), Medicine (NAM), and/or Sciences (NAS). ASEMFL's mission is to highlight state-of-the-art research and education, address Florida's challenges, and contribute to national and global advancements.

The nominations process will run from Aug. 15 to Nov. 1, with references due Dec. 1.

NOTE: Everyone is invited to attend the 2025 ASEMFL Annual Meeting, Nov. 7-8, 2025, Rosen College of Hospitality, Orlando FL. Prospective and future associate member nominees are highly encouraged to attend the 2025 Annual Meeting to network and learn more about ASEMFL.
